

Sunshine

Morning sky will fly high,
Higher than Heaven, and still seven
Billions will try to ascend before the end.
The nighttime gust fell like dust.
Beneath hell those of lust will tell,
Before they were graced they were not saved,
And although there have been plenty, Heaven remains empty.